introduction

by Amanda Conner

Darwyn Cooke is the closest thing I've ever had to a big brother. And I mean that in all the ways you can have a big brother. Sometimes I looked up to and admired him, and sometimes he drove me crazy. This intro is about the "driving me crazy" part.

When I was trying to break into the wonderful world of comics, it was the late '80s. Many times I would show my art to people I was hoping would give me work, and many times I would hear this same thing: "It's good, but it's a little too animated-looking. Can you make it more realistic and superhero-ish? Y'know, more comic book-y?"

And so I would go back to the drawing board (literally) and try to bend my style into a more late '80s/early '90s standard comic book style. It worked. Soon enough, I was a professional in the wonderful world of comics.

Cut to the early 2000s. Jimmy Palmiotti (my husband, but still my boyfriend at this point) and I are at a convention in Toronto. Jimmy says, "You an' me are grabbin' dinner with this guy Darwyn Cooke an' his girlfriend, Marsha." Always one to gleefully let a couple of locals show me where all the good food is, I was in!

Embarrassingly, I was unfamiliar with his art (one of the downsides of working in comics is less time to read them). So I decided to take a look. I was totally blown away, and dammit, he had such an awesome ANIMATED STYLE!

Now, I can't begin to tell you what it's like to be told that your style is too animated for comics, and then have a guy like Darwyn come along and knock the world's socks off with his animated style. I think I behaved only slightly better than Yosemite Sam when he's pitching one of his hissy fits. "OOOOOOOOOOOOO!!!"

And then, for an extra-adroitly-executed kick in the pants, Dar wins, like, 850 Eisners.

But the more I looked at his art, the more I understood. His art has so much movement, so much power, so much oomph. Sort of like a crazy mash-up of Frank Frazetta's powerful, dynamic movement, Max Fleischer's dramatic, moody Superman shorts and Jack Kirby's supercharged energy. But the quiet moments are just as effective as the busy, bold moments, making the contrast that much more effective.

Admittedly, over the years, the wonderful world of comics has morphed into a brave new world where all sorts of different styles are becoming the norm. I'm not quite sure if Dar jumped in at the right time for his artwork to create such a sensation, or if he simply came along and told everyone, "I don't give a rat's ass whether it's too animated-looking or not...this is how it's gonna go down," then just bulldozed everyone into compliance—which would not be out of character for him.

However it happened, it worked out incredibly well, and we all got to have some amazing Darwyn Cooke magic in our lives, even if it was only for a short time.

Darwyn, in spite of driving me crazy with his being so damn exceptional all the time, was great to be around. We had the same fondness for mid-century modern architecture and furniture, liked a lot of the same old movies, and were quite keen on late '60s and early '70s muscle cars. He taught me a lot about all that stuff. And he was fun to hang out with. And he made me laugh. And I looked up to and admired him.

Y'know, the way you do with a big brother.

NO

ARE NOW

YOU ARE NOW
GOTHAM DRIVE

It's at times like this...

YOU ARE NOW LEAVING
GOTHAM CITY CARE

In the cold, in the dark...

YOU ARE NOW LEAVING
GOTHAM CITY
DRIVE CAREFULLY

I feel that I'm losing my way.

YOU ARE NOW LEAVING
GOTHAM CITY
DRIVE CAREFULLY

That the city I've given myself to--

--threatens to crush me--

--with the weight of my commitment to her.

The Joker.

A looting and killing spree
at a charity ball. 27 dead.
What horrifies me most--

--is I seem to be getting used to it.

The pain.

The death.

It took 27 hours to bring the monster down.
Two knife wounds.
Need medical attention.

Not numb, but used to it.

Like each new atrocity is the echo of a pistol fired long ago--

--in the depths of a dry well.

The rest of the gang was routine.
The only loose end is the driver,
Buster Snibbs, and $400,000 in charity money.

Gotham is the largest city
in the country, but Buster knows it's not big enough to keep him safe from me.

True to form,
Buster is running--

--but he can't hide.

Last night I persuaded Buster that it was in his best interests to tell me where the Joker was.

--but I've been keeping tabs on him.

Somehow he pulled a fast one on his boss and made off with the money--

My tracking device indicates he's heading this way, and odds are he'll cross this bridge on his way out of town.

Suddenly my knees go slack and I grab some wall--I stand there, shaking, waiting for it all to pass and I feel the nagging melancholy crowd out more pressing thoughts.

I realized long ago that I can't change the world--

--in three years I've come to realize that I can't appreciably change this city--

--I've begun to wonder if the only thing I can change is myself.

The shaking stops long enough for me to pull myself up to the top level of the bridge. The wind cuts through the thermals and I look at the bright side--

--at least my shoulder is too numb to feel.

The city's impartial gaze darts across my back.

Is it realistic, this obsession? Is it sane?

deeeet!

I drop the introspection. It's time to go to work.

I'm tired of men like Buster-- morally bankrupt and unimaginative--

--empty, meaningless men, feeding off my city-- and contributing nothing.

I'm about to leap down onto the hood of his car and scare the pants off him when the unexpected happens...

Why would he stop in the middle of the bridge?

He stares at the top of the parapet, and a look steals over his face that I can't put my finger on.

I watch him climb the face of the wall and it hits me... he must have the money stashed up there.

Just when I think this is going to wrap itself up nice, and neat, it unravels into the irrational.

It's not the money-- he's going to-- --jump.

Pain gone. Exhaustion gone. There is only adrenaline--

--and a target.

No time to think-- just a fraction of a second for me to realize--

--that there's nowhere to tie the rope off.

It feels as though my bad arm is going to tear away
from my body--

--until I compare it to the exquisite pain of hitting concrete at 35 miles per hour.

ARRGGHHH!

Sloppy. Painful. But effective.

Buster's gratitude warms my heart.

NO!

I consider leaving him to hang while I quietly pass out.

It takes everything I've got to pull him up. He whirles at me, eyes blazing with hate.

LAST NIGHT YOU THREATEN TO DROP ME OFF A ROOFTOP AND TONIGHT YOU STOP ME--

--WHAT'S THE MATTER, FRUITCAKE, CAN'T MAKE UP YOUR MIND?

He's wild-- unpredictable. Got to pull myself together and try to-- --stand up. The wave of dizziness hits me.

He's reaching for something.

Vision blurs--

--and then clears.

DON'T MOVE, YOU FREAK!

THE JOKER'S BEEN PUT AWAY, BUSTER-- YOU'RE SAFE NOW.

SAFE?!
HA HA HA-- YOU IDIOT!

WHO DO YOU THINK YOU'RE DEALING WITH? HOW MANY TIMES HAS HE BEEN CAUGHT-- YOU MORONS ALWAYS LET HIM ESCAPE.

CHUCKIE SOL GAVE ME THE WORD-- THE JOKER KNOWS I RATTED HIM OUT--

--HE WANTED ME TO KNOW THAT WHEN HE GETS OUT HE'LL BE LOOKING ME AND MY FAMILY UP TO SHOW HIS APPRECIATION.

YOU SELF-RIGHTEOUS NUT-- YOU USED ME IN YOUR LITTLE GAME OF COPS AND ROBBERS BUT THE JOKER WILL NEVER GET HIS HANDS ON ANY OF MY FAMILY!

I COULDN'T BEAR THE THOUGHT OF MY WIFE AND DAUGHTER IN THE HANDS OF THAT MANIAC--

SO I KILLED THEM MYSELF!

BUSTER, NO!

I'LL SEE YOU IN HELL, YOU MASKED LUNATIC!

BANG!

What have I done?

HE CRAVES FAME,
BUT ONLY AS THIS FICTIONAL CONSTRUCT "THE BATMAN"
--THIS OF COURSE INDICATES
BOTH SCHIZOPHRENIA AND A SPLIT PERSONALITY.

I MAY BE MAYOR BUT OFF
THE RECORD, GORDON, THE MAN MUST BE A TOTAL HEADCASE.
DON'T YOU AGREE,
BRUCE?

MOTHER...
FATHER.

I HAVE SOMETHING TO TELL YOU.

*I tell them of a man named Buster Snibbs.
A man who had a wife and child.*

*By the time I am done, my body is racked
with an uncontrollable
sobbing.*

They remain frozen through it all, as if they were hanging on my every word.

--urging me to discover the center of this grief-- to heal it from the inside out.

In the past, whenever I had lost hope, and the darkness closed in on me, the power of the cave and the undying spirit of my parents would bedr me up and fuel me with the strength to carry on.

But as dawn's brittle fingers steal across the frozen ground to herald a new morning, I find that this time it's not enough.

I CAN'T DO IT.

NOT ANYMORE.

A wave of relief passes over me, and I feel the beast's hold on me slip away. For the first time in twenty years I am at peace.

The feeling lasts for exactly twenty seconds.

YOU FOOL!

YOU THINK YOU KNOW PAIN,
YOU COWARD?

I WILL SHOW YOU PAIN.

I am not sure, how-- not sure why--but as my heart floods with terror,
I am sure of one thing:

I am facing myself.

EGO

A PSYCHOTIC SLIDE INTO THE HEART OF DARKNESS

MY GOD.

PERHAPS...

BUT LATELY YOU'VE BEEN LACKING FAITH.

I REMEMBER THAT CHRISTMAS, BRUCE. IT WAS THE DAY WE FIRST MET.

ZORRO!
THIS IS THE BEST GIFT!

IT'S EXACTLY WHAT I WANTED!

DAD, CAN I ASK YOU A QUESTION?

SURE, BRUCE. WHAT'S ON YOUR MIND?

WELL, TODAY MOM SAID SHE LIKED HER PRESENT BUT SHE WAS CRYING. I DON'T GET IT.

HAHA! BRUCE, SOMETIMES PEOPLE ARE SO HAPPY THAT THEY CAN'T FIND THE WORDS AND THEIR EMOTIONS TAKE OVER.

SOMETIMES THEY LAUGH WHEN THEY'RE SAD, AND CRY WHEN THEY'RE HAPPY.

UNDERSTAND?

NOT REALLY.

HA. YOU WILL, SON.

ONE DAY IT WILL ALL BE CLEAR TO YOU.

FOR NOW, YOUNG MAN, WATCH THE CAR AND STAY OUT OF TROUBLE.

YES, SIR.

I'LL BE BACK BEFORE YOU KNOW IT.

GOODNIGHT, BRUCE.

WHEN YOUR MOTHER
CLOSED THAT DOOR, YOU WEREN'T ALONE.

I WAS THERE WITH YOU.

FACELESS...

NAMELESS...

BUT I COULD FEEL YOU, AND THAT NIGHT...

...YOU COULD FEEL ME.

IT WAS A SHORT TIME
LATER THAT EVERYTHING CHANGED.
AND IN ONE HORRIFYING INSTANT,
I EXPLODED WITHIN YOUR YOUNG HEART.

FROM THAT MOMENT ON,
WE WERE CONSTANT COMPANIONS.

I WATCHED AS YOU STRUGGLED TO CARRY ON-- TO FIND A REASON FOR WHAT HAD HAPPENED.
WHEN NO REASON COULD BE FOUND I DROVE YOU
TO CREATE A REASON, TO DISCOVER A PURPOSE IN A WORLD GONE MAD.

ALL YOUR TRAVELS,
ALL YOUR TRAINING-- THE THIRST FOR KNOWLEDGE AND ADVENTURE-- I WAS THERE, SILENTLY URGING YOU FORWARD.

EVEN WHEN YOU THOUGHT YOU WERE READY, YOU STILL HAD TO COME TO TERMS WITH ME.

I WAS THERE, I WAS INESCAPABLE.

BUT YOU STILL COULD NOT SPEAK
MY NAME.

FINALLY, IN AN EXPLOSION OF GLASS WE CAME TOGETHER.

NEITHER OF US HAD A CHOICE.

YOU PREFER TO CALL ME
BATMAN.

BUT THE REASON YOU CAN NEVER ESCAPE ME...

...IS THAT MY NAME IS FEAR.

AND I LIVE WITHIN YOU.

WE WERE MAGNIFICENT THEN.
WE DESCENDED ON THIS CITY LIKE AN UNHOLY INSTRUMENT OF VENGEANCE.
RELENTLESS AS A SHARK.

BLACKER THAN THEIR DARK HEARTS.

FOR A SHORT TIME
IT WAS PERFECT.

WORD QUICKLY SPREAD ACROSS THE UNDERWORLD.

CRIMINALS WERE TERRIFIED OF THE BAT AND THE CITY WAS A SAFER
PLACE TO LIVE.

WE WERE A FORCE OF NATURE THAT ACTED ABOVE
THE LAW. HOWEVER, IT WASN'T LONG BE-FORE YOUR VANITY
AND NEED FOR APPROVAL--

--YIELDED TO THE CALL OF CELEBRITY.

I HAVE ENDURED
THIS, AS WELL AS YOUR SOMEWHAT
PITIFUL NEED FOR COMPANIONSHIP.

THE WAR
NECESSITATES ALLIES.
I ACCEPT GORDON
AND THE BAT SIGNAL
BECAUSE IT FURTHERS
OUR CAUSE.

AMUSING... YOU ASSUME I WAS TALKING ABOUT GORDON.

VERY WELL,
THERE ARE FAR MORE IMPORTANT ISSUES IN FRONT OF US...

AT THE SAME TIME
OUR CRUSADE CAUSED A RADICAL
DROP IN STREET CRIME IT ALSO SEEMED TO NURTURE A MORE...

EXTREME TYPE OF CRIMINAL...

...POWER-MAD
GENIUSES...

...SADISTIC MADMEN...

...FLAMBOYANT OPPORTUNISTS...

...OBSESSIVE, MURDEROUS PSYCHOTICS.

PREOCCUPIED WITH THE REST OF THE GANG,
WE LEFT THE RED HOOD TO HIS FATE.

AND IN SO DOING,
WE SET LOOSE UPON
THE NIGHT SOMETHING FAR MORE SAVAGE.

A high-angle, black and white comic book illustration of The Joker falling from a Gotham City skyscraper. He is wearing a purple suit, a yellow shirt, and a green bow tie. He has a wide, maniacal grin, showing his teeth, and is holding a large, straight razor aloft in his right hand. His left hand is also raised, with a small red object (possibly a flower or a piece of candy) in it. He is wearing a dark, flowing cape that billows out behind him. The background shows a dense cityscape with various buildings, some with smoke rising from them. A large, red, stylized text "GOTHAM TRUST" is superimposed over the upper right portion of the image. Three speech bubbles contain text related to the Joker's actions and the Gotham Trust.

EVERY TIME WE CATCH HIM AND ALLOW HIM TO LIVE, HE BREAKS FREE TO KILL AGAIN. ALL OF THIS HORROR AND TRAGEDY IN THE SERVICE OF YOUR 'CODE OF HONOR'!

OR COULD IT BE THAT THE GREAT BATMAN NEEDS HIS ARCHNEMESIS IN ORDER TO FEEL COMPLETE?

EITHER WAY, WE CANNOT WALK AWAY FROM THIS. ONE DAY, WE'LL HAVE TO KILL THAT MURDERING SCUM...

DON'T YOU HAVE ANYTHING TO SAY FOR YOURSELF?

EVERYBODY
LIVES IN HARM'S WAY.

TRAGEDY STRIKES INDISCRIMINATELY. THE DIFFERENCE IS HOW YOU DEAL WITH IT. FACED WITH HAVING TO ACCEPT THAT HE HAD DESTROYED HIS CHANCES FOR A NORMAL LIFE, THE JOKER CHOSE MADNESS INSTEAD.

FRANKLY...
Heh...

THIS IS...
HAHA... CRAZY...
HA HA HA

I'M TALKING =HA HA HA=
TALKING TO... BATMAN...
HAHAHAHAHAHAHA

TELL ME, BATMAN, IS IT TRUE YOU'RE JUST AN UNDERDONE POTATO?

HAHAHAHAHA!!

YOU'RE RIGHT.

I KNOW THAT THE CHOICES I'VE MADE HAVE HAD...
REPERCUSSIONS.

TONIGHT,
ON THAT BRIDGE, I CAME FACE TO FACE WITH THE DAMAGE
I'VE DONE--

--AND I DON'T THINK I CAN LIVE WITH IT ANYMORE.

YOU TELL ME
I HAVE NO CHOICE-- THAT I OWE IT TO THOSE I'VE SWORN TO PROTECT--

AND THOSE WHO I FAILED TO PROTECT.
SO TELL ME...

...TELL ME
HOW TO CARRY ON.

TWO-FACE.
HARVEY'S OBSESSION WITH THE NUMBER TWO MADE IT EASY TO ANTICIPATE HIS CRIMES.

HIS DEPENDENCE ON THE FLIP OF A COIN TO MAKE A DECISION MADE HIM A WILDLY UNPREDICTABLE OPPONENT...

HARVEY WAS IN A POSITION WHERE HIS SECRET SELF COULD ACT FREELY. HARVEY'S CONDITION ENSURED HE COULDN'T BE HELD ACCOUNTABLE FOR ANYTHING TWO-FACE DID.

HIS CONDITION?
HE'S MENTALLY ILL!

ANCIENT CULTURES SPEAK OF SIMPLE TRIBESMEN INHABITED BY THE SPIRIT OF GREAT WARRIORS.

PERHAPS YOU WOULD PREFER A MORE... SPIRITUAL EXAMPLE.

MODERN TRAINING AND MENTAL CONDITIONING CAN TURN A SMALL-TOWN SCHOOL TEACHER INTO A KILLING MACHINE.

EVEN YOUR BELOVED DON DIEGO UNDERSTOOD THE MOST BASIC PRINCIPLE OF ANYTHING WORTH FIGHTING FOR.

IN WAR THERE ARE CASUALTIES.

BUT I'M NOT A KILLER!

I AM PAINFULLY AWARE OF THAT. I BELIEVE IT HAS SOMETHING TO DO WITH YOUR FATHER BEING A HEALER...

THAT AND THE FACT THAT YOU SAW YOUR PARENTS BRUTALLY MURDERED BEFORE YOUR EYES.

THEREFORE, ALTHOUGH WE SHARE A HOST BODY, I SUGGEST WE ADMIT THAT WE ARE SEPARATE ENTITIES-- YOU ARE NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR MY ACTIONS--

--ANY MORE THAN I AM RESPONSIBLE FOR YOURS.

AS BRUCE WAYNE, YOU'LL BE FREE TO CHASE WOMEN, BUILD HOSPITALS, KISS BABIES-- WHATEVER YOU DESIRE.

BUT WHEN THE BATMAN IS NEEDED YOU WILL STEP ASIDE...

...AND LEAVE ME FREE...

...TO DEAL WITH THE DEVIL IN KIND.

YOU'RE TALKING ABOUT WHAT? SELF-INDUCED PSYCHOSIS? VOLUNTARILY SPLITTING OUR PERSONALITIES?

I'M TALKING ABOUT FREEDOM TO ACT.

TO FULFILL OUR INDIVIDUAL DESTINIES.

YOU ARE TRULY RUTHLESS. I SHOULD KNOW.

IT WAS MY FORCE OF WILL THAT MOLDED YOU IN THIS IMAGE. BUT I CHanneled YOUR FURY TOWARDS A PURPOSE.

I TEMPERED YOUR WRATH. LEFT UNCHECKED YOUR VENGEANCE WOULD BE...

...MONSTROUS.

THE ANSWER IS NO.

--I'm on my way.

END

Her name is MADAME X

She's threatening to poison the entire city.

I don't know why

These people are crazy.

It's just what they do.

The police won't get here in time. She's got them running all over Gotham.

IT'S OVER.

Looks like it's up to me.

BATMAN!
I THOUGHT YOU'D NEVER GET HERE!

That's what I do.

TAKE CARE OF HIM!

Mari Hollingsworth

FOR CANDIS

I suppose I should start with the fact that I'm dead.

At least I was declared legally dead, but that's another story.

So despite the rumors and the intentions of these gentlemen...

I'm very much alive.

BOOK ONE

SELINA

The great thing about this place is the classics still work. If I pulled this on Batman I'd be in Blackgate in a half hour.

I give it a few minutes to be sure it's safe.

God, I hate
this filthy town.

SWELL

EAST PO

As much as I've changed over the years, Gotham has stayed the same. Cold and impassive. But I still have a couple friends.

I NEED THAT PACKAGE I LEFT WITH YOU.

SURE KID, SURE... JUST GIMME A MINUTE SO'S WE GOT SOME PRIVACY.

JEEZ, SELINA, WE THOUGHT YOU WAS DEAD. IT WAS IN ALL A PAPERS.

MAYBE I'M A GHOST.

HA! IT'S SO GOOD TO SEE YOU KID -- WAIT HERE A SEC AND I'LL GET YOUR THINGS.

Y'KNOW, I HAD A FUNNY FEELING ABOUT YOUR 'DEATH'...

SO I SAVED THIS JUST LIKE YOU SAID -- I AIN'T EVEN LOOKED INSIDE.

THANK YOU SWIFTY. Y'KNOW, MAYBE YOU CAN HELP ME WITH ANOTHER THING...

ANYTHING KID.

I'M AT SQUARE ONE, Y'KNOW? WHAT I NEED IS A BIG SCORE TO GET SET UP AGAIN... AND I NEED IT, LIKE, LAST MONTH.

JEEZ SELINA, THE ONLY THING IN THE WIND IS KIND OF OUT OF YOUR LINE.

SWIFTY, I DON'T HAVE A 'LINE' ANYMORE. CAN'T AFFORD ONE.

THIS THING IS BIG?

IT'S BIG AS YOUR EYES KID, BUT VERY TRICKY AND MOST LIKELY HEAVY-DUTY.

MEN WITH GUNS. FANTASTIC. BUT BEGGARS CAN'T BE CHOOSY.

WHY DON'T YOU DROP BY ABOUT 10 TONIGHT. I'LL INTRODUCE YOU TO A FRIEND.

THANK YOU.

HEY.

I'LL MAKE CHILI!

A few hours' sleep and a cold shower and I feel better than I have in weeks.
I can feel my mind clearing,
regaining focus.

For now, I think
I'll stay dead.
And so will Catwoman.
That way I'm free
to act without anyone dogging me.

As for tonight,
we'll see what Swifty's friend has going.
It's probably some muscle-headed gun nut.

Later Chantel's words follow me home.
I'm ready to trust her.
I know how it feels to be so sickened
by your own life...
...How far a person will go
if they have a chance to change it all.

I can't help but see a bit of myself
in Chantel...
Looking out for my sister in the orphanage, taking care of Holly...

I usually avoid thinking about that time...

But what really nailed it was the last thing she said.
I had heard those words before...
Back before there was a bat...
or a cat.

I don't remember
what day it was.
I couldn't tell you
the name of the hotel
if my life depended on it...

But those words.
Well, they changed
everything.

It started, like so many things
in the east end,
with a splintering
door and the roar of a gun.

My client.
Tony 'the Toucan' Tudeska.

The man who chilled him.
A local legend. Some kind of master thief. I'd seen him around.

EVENING, SELINA,
RIGHT?

YOU KNOW YOU'RE BETTER THAN THIS BUT THERE'S NOTHING TO BELIEVE IN. NO ONE TO TRUST.

LET ME GUESS... I COULD TRUST YOU, RIGHT?

HEH. GOOD ONE.

NO.

TRUST YOURSELF. IF YOU'RE GOING TO SPEND YOUR LIFE ON THIS SIDE OF THE LAW, AND YOU WANT TO SURVIVE...

YOU HAVE TO CARE ABOUT YOURSELF. LET ME SHOW YOU.

His touch... as cold and sure as... my own.

I could feel the strength coming off of him in a steady, quiet current.

All those years of being in control, looking after Maggie, Holly-- Those years had made me hard, but Stark--

Stark was like living granite.

Back then I had a joke I used... "The reason I don't like men is I've never met one." Ha. Stark laid that joke to rest.

I left with him that night. I could never tell Holly or others about him. It was a world of two. There were other men who taught me, like Ted Grant. But none of them were as frankly amoral as Stark.

He promised to teach me, and was good as his word-- which is more than I can say for myself.

And now here I am with the biggest payoff since Lufthansa and I screwed over the one man who could help me.

In other words, karmic pay for my course.

SWIFTY? YES. TELL CHANTEL WE ARE ON. I'LL GET YOU SPECS FOR SOME LISTENING HARDWARE I'LL NEED...

WELL NOW, THAT'S JUST IT. WE NEED A PRO-- SOMEONE WITH THE KNOW-HOW AND THE JUICE TO PULL THIS TOGETHER.

I WANT YOU TO CALL STARK.

SELINA, HAVE YOU LOST YOUR MIND? YOU JUST GOT BACK FROM THE DEAD, FOR PETE'S SAKE!

AFTER WHAT HAPPENED BETWEEN YOU TWO...

SWIFTY, IF STARK WAS GOING TO ACE ME HE'D HAVE DONE IT YEARS AGO.

JUST MAKE THE CALL. NO, I DO NOT WANT TO THINK ABOUT IT. RIGHT. SEE YOU THURSDAY.

Here I go again.

Thursday. Way uptown
at the apartment of Chantel's
'boyfriend', Frank Falcone.

LET'S SEE...
24 MILLION CASH-THAT'S ABOUT 30 MONEYBAGS

THAT'LL BE TWO RAIL CARS
RIGHT?

EXACTLY MR. FALCONE.
PLUS THE ENGINE AND THE REAR CAR FOR A TOTAL OF FOUR, SHORT TRAIN, EH?

SHORT AND FAST.
WE MAKE IT LOOK LIKE A TRACK MAINTENANCE JOB.

KONG, I WANT YOU ON THIS RUN.

YOU GOT IT FRANK.

CHANTEL! HONEY, ARE YOU MAKING THE GIN OR WHAT?

PATIENCE BABY.

YOU KNOW GOOD THINGS COME TO THOSE WHO WAIT.

Y'HEAR THAT, GUYS?

I TELL YA, LITTLE CHANTEL HERE IS A REGULAR CONFUCIUS -

THANKS HONEY. WHY DON'T YOU HEAD TO BED NOW. I HAVE TO TALK TO THE BOYS HERE FOR A WHILE.

OKAY FRANK.

DON'T BE TOO LONG BABY.

HECK OF A GAL YA GOT THERE FRANK.

YOU KNOW IT KONG. AND SHE'S A GOOD KID... LOOKS AFTER HER MOM...

REALLY?

OH YEAH

That'll do the trick.

We have a date, the basic setup, and a figure.

24 Million in cash. There's got to be a way to do this.

And I'm going to find it.

24 million in cash -

I'm alive again.

BOOK TWO

STARK

THIS WAS BACK WHEN I WAS STILL LOCAL. THE OUTFIT LEFT ME ALONE OUT OF RESPECT, AND IN RETURN I NEVER HIT THEM.

GOTHAM CITY WAS MY PLAYGROUND.

WHY DON'T YOU GROW OUT YOUR HAIR?

SELINA, WELL, SELINA CHANGED A FEW THINGS. THERE HAD BEEN SEVERAL WOMEN IN MY LIFE, BUT I HAD ALWAYS KEPT IT ON A LEVEL THAT I COULD CONTROL.

HRMF.

KLK!

WHY DON'T YOU?

I HAD NEVER BEEN AT EASE WITH THE COMPANY OF PEOPLE, AND NEITHER HAD SHE.

WE DECIDED TO BE ALONE TOGETHER.

TOUGH GUYS DON'T HAVE LONG HAIR, IS THAT IT?

UH HUH.

WELL THEN, I GUESS I'M A TOUGH GUY TOO.

STARK, THESE LAST COUPLE WEEKS HAVE BEEN... GOOD.

MAYBE I COULD, WELL, WE COULD WORK TOGETHER -

IS THAT WHAT YOU WANT?

YES. AND YOU KNOW I'D BE GOOD AT IT.

IF I SAY YES, WILL YOU SHUT UP FOR FIVE MINUTES?

G'NIGHT, TOUGH GUY.

SO I TAUGHT HER THE BASICS. BUT SELINA HAD HER OWN STYLE. THAT WOMAN WAS ALL ABOUT FINESSE. LIKE, ON A BOX JOB, I'LL GO WITH DYNAMITE OR PLASTIQUE. SELINA HAD TO MASTER THE HARD WAY.

I TAUGHT HER ABOUT WHAT WAS WORTH STEALING, BUT MORE IMPORTANTLY, WHAT NOT TO STEAL. HOW TO SPOT TROUBLE BEFORE IT HAPPENS AND HOW TO COVER YOUR TRACKS. SHE SOAKED IT IN...

SHE HAD A JOB IN MIND. IT WAS A SIMPLE HEIST WITH MILLIONS IN UNCUT DIAMONDS... IT WAS A GREAT SET-UP...

...EXCEPT THE DIAMONDS BELONGED TO THE MOB.

I KNOW ABOUT THE MOB, BUT THIS IS MILLIONS IN UNCUT DIAMONDS JUST WAITING TO BE SNATCHED-

IT COULD BE OUR WAY OUT. Y'KNOW, DISAPPEAR. YOU AND I, ALONE TOGETHER.

OKAY. WE'LL LOOK AT IT.

AND THAT WAS MY FIRST MISTAKE. I LET THE POTENTIAL PAYOFF ON A JOB COMPROMISE MY GOLDEN RULE - DON'T SCREW WITH THE ITALIANS.

THAT WAS THEN.

STARK?

AND THAT IS THE NOW.

EARTH TO STARK!

SO THE QUESTION BECOMES WHETHER I'M JUST LISTENING TO HER PLAY ME ALL OVER AGAIN, I LET HER TALK, GET HER HOPES UP,...

AND THERE ISN'T THAT MUCH TIME. IT GOES DOWN IN THREE WEEKS.

WHO'S THE INSIDE PERSON?

IT'S A WORKING GIRL. HER NAME'S NONE OF YOUR BUSINESS, BUT I TRUST HER. SHE'LL STAND UP.

TRUST. FORTUNATELY FOR YOU, IT DOESN'T COME DOWN TO TRUST.

LET'S STICK TO SOMETHING MORE CONCRETE -- LIKE COMMON SENSE.

YOU WANT TO SNEAK UP ON A MOVING TRAIN FILLED WITH MAFIA MUSCLE...

SOMEHOW MANAGE TO JUMP ON THIS TRAIN -- UNSEEN AND UNDETECTED...

AND WHAT DO WE DO THEN? DO WE FLY AWAY WITH THE MONEY IN OUR POCKETS?

BABY YOU WERE GOOD, BUT YOU WERE NEVER THAT GOOD.

I DECIDE TO WALK AWAY.
I DON'T NEED
THIS SCORE.

IT'S DANGER-OUS, STUPID, AND IT'S SEWNA.
I'LL CONFESS I LIKED THE JOB AS A CHALLENGE...
BUT I DIDN'T NEED FRESH UPHILL WITH THE OUTFIT.

I'M STARTING TO FEEL GOOD ABOUT THE WHOLE THING --

--AND THAT'S WHEN SHE DROPS
THE OTHER SHOE --

FOR GOD'S SAKE, STARK.
PLEASE.

HERE IT IS... SHE'S PUT HERSELF OUT
THERE AND I COULD SLAM HER HARD --

I...
I NEED YOU.

I NEED

BOOK THREE

SLAM

It was a dark and stormy night.

What do you want from me?
I'm a detective...not a writer.

I suppose it all started when the Mayor hired me to find a dead woman...

The notorious jewel thief Catwoman had apparently died evading capture after murdering a Gotham socialite named Selina Kyle.

pledge-

Not only was Selina Kyle alive, she was Catwoman.

But when it came down to it, I couldn't turn her in.

akkk:-

So it all started with a search for a dead woman. But to understand why I'm here on a roof in the rain...

I'm bleedin' to death here...

...we have to talk about another dead woman named Chantel.

SHUT UP, FALCONE

The Mayor's cops had roughed me up pretty good. In the following days my face healed but other pains lingered. I found myself killing spare time hanging out in places where I hoped I might see her...

I was hanging out near Swift's and I see a young pro come out of his shop. I'm smiling to myself about old Swift and then I make her...

...Chantel something, Frank Falcone's thingy. And she looks a little uptight.

I sit back, wondering what some kept mob trim is doing with the likes of Swift. I must've went out, cause next thing I know I'm waking up to a car horn.

I see Selina and Swift float past me... she's waving. It's like a surreal scene from some fruity art film.

Once I'm sure I'm awake, I decide to follow them. Except all the tires on my crate are flat.

Selina has played me like a snot-nose. I gotta laugh.

I kill an hour looking for a connection between Selina, Swift and a mob heavy like Falcone. I can't figure what it adds up to, but I know it can't be good news. It starts to rain.

Nice.

Something big was going on. I could feel it rolling in around me like the anxious discomfort that precedes a violent illness. Swift and Selina weren't coming back.

If I wanted in, I'd have to find them.

Chantel and that worried look on her face were my only lead. That meant going to have a talk with Falcone. And that meant going in heavy. Like a favorite song, the skies turned it up in sympathy.

Wish I had my damn hat.

I'm fifty years old and that woman has me acting like that nancy-boy Batman. Guys like me don't get invited up to Falcone's penthouse, so I had to find my own ride in. That partially explained why I was on a ladder thirty stories up in the driving rain.

But it doesn't explain why I'm crazy enough to run this in the first place.

Let me put it this way. I'm middle-aged, single, and I live alone. I could be moldering my lonely ass away on the couch watching television or I could try to help at least two women I knew were in big trouble.

So y' see, one man's crazy is another man's meat. Or somesuch.

I made the roof of Falcone's penthouse just as the screaming starts.

The goon guarding the terrace was a nice warm-up.

I couldn't make it out, but Falcone was on the phone. Then I saw her...

YEAH, IT'S FALCONE. LOOK, KONG, SOMEONE MIGHT TRY TO HIT THE TRAIN...

I knew it was Chantel from her dress, but sweet mother--her face.

Which, as they say, brings us up to speed.

I'VE TOLD YOU EVERYTHING, YOU PSYCHO! WE HAD A DEAL! NOW PULL ME UP!

THERE'S ONE MORE THING. YOU KEEP MENTIONING THIS MAN AND WOMAN WHO'RE TAKING DOWN YOUR TRAIN. I WANT NAMES.

HIS NAME'S STARK. STARK!! I DON'T KNOW THE GIRL'S NAME, I SWEAR! NOW PULL ME UP!! WE HAD A DEAL!

THE DEAL WAS I WOULDN'T KILL YOU. PULL YOURSELF UP.

NO!

I figure I'll take the stairs down. Should hustle. Cops'll be here soon.

BASTARD!

WELCOME TO CANADA,
I AM MONSIEUR LAPERIER.

AND THIS IS JEAN-MARC.
DAT WAS AN INNERESTING
PHONE CALL, YES?

I THINK JEAN-MARC WILL WAIT
HERE WHILE YOU AND I GO FOR A BOATRIDE, YES?

I know, I know...a guy my age should be ashamed of himself, right? Except it's not like that...it's more like a fondness; a fascination. And the kind of deep concern you usually reserve for the special few in your life. You read the book on this woman and you gotta admire her.

It took about an hour and a half to find a pilot and talk him into this stunt. As usual, it all came down to money.

I tell him to try and track the northbound rail lines, but it's ceiling zero out there, and the visibility is pitiful. He takes us above the storm, to make better time.

Falcone mentioned a dude named Stark, and that has me worried. He's a master thief and a cold-blooded killer. Never been caught, whereabouts unknown.

Stark was bad company at the best of times, but it was something more...something about Selina. It nags at me like a bad tooth...

Then I remember. I hadn't heard the name recently--I'd read it. In the Catwoman file I had put together during my investigation.

The files I burned for Selina. I try to remember the details...

...it was a diamond robbery. Stark and an associate named "Fingers" Marotta took down a Falcone courier for about half a million in uncut stones.

But something went wrong.

There was a hell of a firefight and "Fingers" was hit. Stark apparently didn't bat an eye.

He picked up that bag and made for the street in a hail of bullets.

And this is where the story gets interesting. The third member of the gang was supposed to be waiting with a getaway car, but when Stark hit the street...

He was alone, and holding the bag.

This part was told to the cops by an eyewitness. A homeless shmoe or somesuch... A whip snaked down out of the night, plucking the diamonds from Stark's hand.

A stylized comic book illustration of Catwoman perched on a rooftop in Gotham City. She is wearing her signature purple suit and cowl, looking down with a determined expression. The background is a dense cityscape with various buildings, including one with a sign that says 'MERCURY'. The color palette is dominated by reds, oranges, and purples, creating a dramatic and intense atmosphere. A speech bubble in the upper left corner contains text about her criminal activities.

It went down on the books
as the third official sighting of a new criminal in Gotham.

Her appearance coincided with that of the Batman,
and the media had dubbed her Catwoman.

Or, as I prefer,
Selina Kyle.

It's hard to imagine what went through Stark's mind. Did he know who was behind the mask?

What happened to the driver of the getaway car?

According to the witness, Stark just stood there without firing a shot, as the sound of a cracking whip took her away into the night.

The boys got hold of "Fingers" before he checked out. He gave up Stark and "some girl" before he died on them.

As for Stark, he escaped with his life. But his days in Gotham were over for good.

The clouds pull open in front of us and below us is the border. We've flown clear of the storm.

Tonight I killed three men and held a twenty-year-old girl in my arms while she died. But God help me, it felt like the worst was yet to come.

You see, Stark had a hold of the net when the boat got underway. He could've left me there, but he didn't ... He took my hand.

We'd see it to the end together.

Frenchie's machine gun rules out the direct approach, Stark forms a quick plan--

BATMAN SPIRIT

A blue-toned comic book illustration. In the upper half, Batman is shown from the chest up, wearing his mask and cowl, looking down with a somber expression. He is surrounded by debris, including what appears to be a car wheel and other mechanical parts. In the lower left, a young boy with glasses and a worried expression is shown, looking up towards the viewer. The background is filled with more debris and a sense of chaotic motion, indicated by motion lines and splatters. The overall tone is dramatic and somber.

BATMAN: THE GOLDEN AGE OMNIBUS VOL. 1 cover

afterword

by Darwyn Cooke

Concurrent to typing this, I'm putting the finishing touches on the cover painting for this volume. It occurs to me that this year is the 40th anniversary of my first encountering Batman. From Adam West through to BATMAN: YEAR ONE, he has always been my favorite fictional character.

As I entered adolescence and began to consider art as a career, I rediscovered the wonder of comics. A Spider-Man special by Stan Lee and John Romita, picked up during a trip to my cousin's, reignited my interest in comics. My second outing to a store for another comic brought me to Batman, my old buddy from my childhood. As fate would have it, the Batman comic on the news rack that month was DETECTIVE COMICS #439. I bought it, expecting to reacquaint myself with my childhood buddies, the dynamic duo.

What I got instead was a story that changed my youthful perception of Batman (and comics) forever. DETECTIVE #439 contains a story called "Night of the Stalker," by Steve Englehart and Sal Amendola. To this day, I consider it my all-time favorite Batman story. Here was Batman without the puns I'd grown up on, exacting revenge on criminal low-lives for an ironic tragedy. The real kicker to the story was that Batman didn't say a word. It is a perfect example of the character distilled to his purest form. A week later, my trip to the news rack yielded Len Wein and Neal Adams' "Moon of the Wolf." I was hooked. For life.

The intervening years saw my life take a multitude of interesting career turns, but in the back of my mind, there was always comics—and Batman. He is a character so primal and universally understood that talented creators have been able to find a way to keep him interesting for over 65 years. Thanks to the leap of faith that men like Bruce Timm and Mark Chiarello made when they saw my work, I was able to finally take my shot at the Dark Knight Detective. Below are some thoughts on the work collected in this volume, which constitutes pretty much all the Batman-related work I've done in comics. It is of interest to note that all the books listed below were originally edited by Mark Chiarello. When you get outside of continuity and look at the long term, Mark is one of the guiding forces keeping Batman's status iconic and compelling for another generation. My heartfelt thanks go to him for letting me sing these little songs.

BATMAN: EGO

This was my first project for DC. I had spent a few years considering a career in comics, and had developed several ideas for a pitch. This was to be my first real published story, and as such, I put considerable pressure on myself to come up with something unique. I knew I wanted to do Batman, and I knew I wanted to tell a story that would encompass the entire mythos.

Talk about setting yourself up to fail. A very simple and absurd idea emerged from all the head scratching. What if Bruce Wayne and Batman were able to sit down and talk about what it is they do? Are they the same person? Completely different personas? Two sides of the same coin? This kinda dumb premise got me excited. It would allow me to have them discuss all the important moments in their life from different angles.

In order to avoid any literal separation of their physical selves, I staged the story in the aftermath of a severe psychological trauma. Our set is the landscape of Bruce's tormented mind, allowing us to move visually from place to place without transition. Upon review, I consider EGO an earnest yet flawed first effort.

"HERE BE MONSTERS"
FROM GOTHAM KNIGHTS No.23
(with writer Paul Grist)

My first foray into Mark Chiarello's distinguished BATMAN: BLACK AND WHITE series. I recall being delighted by Paul's script and having a lot of fun with the Madame X design. This story was finished using an HB pencil, black Prismacolor pencil and chunky inks where we had solid blacks.

"THE MONUMENT"
FROM GOTHAM KNIGHTS No.33
(with artist Bill Wray)

My second BATMAN: BLACK AND WHITE, this time as the typist. Originally intended for Art Adams, scheduling woes led to Mark suggesting Bill Wray. As a lifelong fan of Bill's work, I thought it was an inspired choice. His Batman is a fantastic synthesis of Frank Miller's Dark Knight and Wally Wood's "Superduperman." Bill took a very tepid script of mine and turned it into a hilarious and full-blown send-up.

CATWOMAN: SELINA'S BIG SCORE

During my run on CATWOMAN with Ed Brubaker and Doc Allred, I saw the chance to do a story that filled a few gaps in Selina's life and perhaps provide her with the motivation for the altruistic deeds Ed and I had her displaying in the monthly. That being said, Selina was simply a great character that would be a natural for a heist story. I teamed Selina up with Jeff and Stark, the two bad boys I had used in the then-unpublished "Déjà Vu" (confusing, I know—see below).

Jeff is my Chow Yun-Fat—a favorite of mine from the Hong Kong crime movie scene. Stark is my Lee Marvin, and is named after the crime novelist Richard Stark. Stark (a pseudonym for Donald Westlake) is famous for his series of Parker crime novels. The 1966 film classic Point Blank is an adaptation of Parker's first appearance and stars Lee Marvin in a quintessential performance.

The other cornerstone of BIG SCORE was Siegel and Shuster's Slam Bradley, a character I had become quite fond of since Ed's and my decision to weave him into Selina's world. The monthly was emphasizing Slam as a foil to Selina, and as such his drinking and need were the sides we were seeing. I wanted to show the other side of the man—the streetwise detective, the romantic adventurer and, primarily, the slightly crazy Irishman who acts with great justice and violence when faced with evil bastards.

I threw in Burgess Meredith (Swiftly) and Pam Grier (Crystal), and I had a cast to kill for. BIG SCORE remains my favorite book that I've written and drawn.

"DATE NIGHT" FROM SOLO No. 1 (with artist Tim Sale)

This story was originally intended to run in the back of the Selina hardcover, but was cut as we pulled the book together. Tim Sale had asked if I could work with him on a Catwoman story for his issue of SOLO. I had loved this script and was sad to see it go from the hardcover. Its romantic theme lent itself to Tim's strengths, so we did it Marvel style. I sent Tim a script in draft form, and Tim expanded the page count somewhat to open up a few scenes. A great little story with one of the industry's most distinctive stylists.

"DÉJÀ VU" FROM SOLO No. 5

This will take a bit of explaining. If you've read the first part of this introduction, you'll remember my mentioning "Night of the Stalker." In 1998, while working on Batman: The Animated Series, I did a version of this story in the adventures style. I remember being floored when Bruce Timm offered to write it. We finished it up and promptly sent it in to DC, who decided not to buy it from us. When it came time to do my issue of SOLO, I knew I wanted to do that story. When I pulled it out, I saw how much different it looked from my current work and decided to start from scratch. I talked to Bruce to tell him I hoped he didn't mind, but I really wanted to rewrite the story so that my issue of SOLO could be truly solo. Bruce was cool about that and I dove into the work. I did keep a couple of Bruce's lines, though, my favorite being "That Stark. What a character." The eagle-eyed out there will notice Jeff and Stark from BIG SCORE.

The real thanks go to Steve Englehart, Sal Amendola and Dick Giordano for the original that I humbly adapted.

Other than a few covers and pinups, I suppose that is that. I hope that for a few years anyway, I'm able to get away from Batman. Not because of any change of heart regarding the character. He is simply exhausting to be with. Always grim, always working, his quest is never over. Every time he appears, it has to be magic. You have to bring your "A" game, because he always does. A new reveal. A new angle. Yet another new story. The guy wears you out.

I'm sure that one day I'll make it back to Gotham City, but right now I'd just as soon join the rest of you and sit back with a good Batman yarn. If you'll excuse me, I'm going to go dig up Goodwin and Toth's "Ghost of the Killer Skies."

Thanks for reading.

DARWYN COOKE

was an acclaimed cartoonist, animator and writer. After spending several years as a magazine art director and graphic designer, Cooke switched careers and began working in animation, where he contributed to such shows as Batman: The Animated Series, Superman: The Animated Series and Men In Black: The Series. Following these successes, DC Comics approached Cooke to write and illustrate a project that he had submitted to the company years earlier: BATMAN: EGO. The critical success of this graphic novel led to more freelance work, including a relaunch of the CATWOMAN series with writer Ed Brubaker, which inspired Cooke to write and draw the graphic novel CATWOMAN: SELINA'S BIG SCORE, as well as assignments on X-Force and Spider-Man's Tangled Web for Marvel Comics. Cooke then spent several years writing and drawing the ambitious epic THE NEW FRONTIER, a six-issue miniseries bridging the gap between the end of the Golden Age of Comics and the beginning of the Silver Age. He also illustrated and wrote a highly acclaimed issue of DC's artist-centric series SOLO and crafted a new incarnation of THE SPIRIT for DC. In 2012, he was one of the essential voices behind BEFORE WATCHMEN, one of the most talked-about comics events of the decade. His recent projects include Richard Stark's Parker for IDW, THE TWILIGHT CHILDREN for Vertigo and a month-long variant cover event featuring DC characters in quiet moments, for which he won his thirteenth Eisner Award. After a battle with lung cancer, Cooke died in May 2016 at age 53. ★
